Part 1 -

I had just started my senior year and was counting down the days until I turned eighteen. Graduation would follow shortly after. I couldn't wait to get away from my mom and her sleazy ways. She couldn't stay with a man for more than a few months. We moved from place to place, and it drove me crazy. The only thing she taught me was how to furnish an apartment for almost nothing. I only asked one thing of her.

"Don't date anyone associated with my school."

I usually kept to myself in school. There was no reason to make friends. I liked to spend my time in my room on my computer or at the park taking pictures. Pity wasn't something I wanted from the people around me. I didn't have what most kids in school had. It was easier to move when you only had a few boxes to pack.

There was a message on my computer when I got home from school one day. It was from a guy who had seen me on a photography post. We were both seniors but knew nothing about each other or where we lived. I agreed to let him call me if we were still talking on my birthday. There was no way that was going to happen.

There was a guy in one of my classes that was a total jerk. He didn't care what anyone thought about him. His name was Ethan. He was definitely nice to look at with his whole bad boy attitude, but the bad outweighed the good. I couldn't believe he was in my advanced class. Not everyone was as they seemed though. Everything was quiet until I opened my big mouth and pissed him off. It was definitely the biggest mistake I had made in a long time.

Part 2 -

I was furious when I realized my mom couldn't honor my only request. How hard could it be?

When I saw him standing there, I thought I was going to lose it. Why did she have to pick Ethan's dad as her latest victim? There were a million other guys to choose from, but she had to pick him. My new stepbrother was going to be the one guy that got off on screwing with me daily. He was the most gorgeous bad boy biker in school. His rebel attitude was one that I envied. He was his own man and didn't give a crap what anyone thought about him. Not a day went by that he didn't find a way to piss me off.

Biker was my saving grace. He was the one I was going to be with for the first time. I was counting the days until we could be together. He made everything else more bearable. We were joking around one night when three very important words came out before I could stop them. It was those three words that ruined everything.

Part 3 -

The man I loved wasn't talking to me. I needed to know everything was going to be okay between us. It was all a horrible mistake, and it would never happen again.

My mistake wasn't talking to me either, and I couldn't figure out why. In class he ignored me, and at home he seemed to always be busy when I was around. I had no idea what I had done to piss him off. He was the one that made the first move that night in the bathroom.

Just as things started getting better between me and the man of my dreams, I began feeling things for Ethan that I couldn't deny.

Something happened that pushed me back into his arms, and I had no idea what I was going to do.

Just when I thought things couldn't get any worse, my entire world came crashing down on me.

Part 4 -

As I stood in Ethan's room looking at his laptop, I couldn't believe what I was seeing. Did he know it was me he was talking to? Was he messing with me the entire time? What if he didn't know?

When I asked him again if he knew it was me, his eyes gave him away before his mouth even moved. I had been played.

Between work, final exams, and packing, I had managed to avoid him as much as possible. All I had to do was make it through graduation and everything would be okay. At least I hoped it would be. The closer it got, the harder I knew it was going to be to walk away.

I ha
