Judith is a very beautiful African American girl who is engaged to marry Gerald, a Caucasian billionaire. Gerald just happens to be the son of a Senator running for the presidency. Any hint of scandal would be a disaster for his campaign. Judith is enjoying a solo weekend vacation in Vegas. She is a recovering alcoholic who accidentally drinks from the wrong glass, sending her on a rampaging drinking binge. That evening she ends up at a party and commits an indiscretion. Philip, the man she was drunken with, is adamant that it is love at first sight for him. In the morning, when she finally sobers up, she explains she is already engaged to marry a handsome, hunky billionaire and can't possibly have anything more to do with Philip. She is going back to New York but Philip isn't about to let the love of his life slip through his fingers. She offers him money to go away, but he has a proposition of his own.
